About Dr. Shirley Waterhouse

Dr. Shirley Waterhouse has spent over 30 years pursuing her passion for education working as a teacher, administrator, and consultant.

Currently, Dr. Waterhouse is the Director of Educational Technology at Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University (ERAU) and President of eLearnGlobal, a consulting practice focusing on elearning initiatives for K-12 and higher education.

ERAU is the leading aviation/aerospace institution of higher education and is recognized as one of the foremost educational institutions in the world. The university is a multi-campus, global institution with a residential campus in Prescott, Arizona; a residential campus in Daytona Beach, Florida; and has over 130 teaching centers located worldwide. As Director of Educational Technology at ERAU, Dr. Waterhouse oversees University-wide elearning initiatives and faculty technology development.

While a professor in the ERAU Department of Computer Science, she won the outstanding teaching award, bestowed by graduating seniors, eleven out of fourteen semesters. In addition to her administrative duties, Dr. Waterhouse currently teaches a graduate course on elearning pedagogy at ERAU.

Globally renowned as an authority on elearning, Dr. Waterhouse shares her valuable and extensive expertise as a noted speaker at elearning conferences and as an international consultant, focusing on elearning pedagogy and elearning strategic planning.

Dr. Waterhouse has conducted hundreds of workshops for educational leaders and faculty across the world. Her workshops have been created to motivate educators to leverage the benefits of implementing elearning strategies and to help in devising tailored elearning initiatives.

With her in-depth understanding of elearning from the perspective of a teacher as well as an administrator, Dr. Waterhouse provides guiding principles and insights into best practices, thus offering a holistic view of how to deploy elearning for success.

Dr. Waterhouse has authored six books; the most recent being The Power of eLearning - The Essential Guide for Teaching in the Digital Age, an Allyn & Bacon (Pearson) publication.
